JANK'S NEW MANUAL OF HOMOGOPATHIC PRACTICE: Edited, with Annotations, by A. GERALD HULL, M. D. Second Americas, from the third or Paris Edition. (I vol. pp. 651, 12mo.) New-York: William Radde, 322 Broad-

The appearance of so large a volume, devoted entirely to a treatise on Homosopathic Practice, argues the progress of the new doctrine, while it confident zeal of its advocates. Volume follows volume from their pens-not in apology for or defence of their system-this they regard as no longer needed-but devoted to the neady and scientific upbuilding of the edifice of which the foundations have been firmly laid by Hahnemann. Such is the aim of Dr. Jahr's work. of which a translation is before us. It has passed through two editions in Germany, was thence rendered into French by the author, and the English version is a translation from the latter. Upon examination, however, it appeared that the English translator was either unfaithful or possessed no qualification for the peculiar task he had undertaken; and Dr. Hull has found it necessary to revise and correct the entire version by a comparison with the French and German editions. It will be understood that this is the text-book of Practice of the Homosopathic school of medicine in all countries having been prepared with the entire approval and cooperation of Hahnemann himself.

From the volume before us we gather that the entire number of medicines recognized by the Homosopathic school is now two hundred-the alphaletical list commencing with Acetum or Monk's Hood and ending with Zinc and Zingiber, or Gin ger. The use of the Magnet in certain cases is allowed. Among the substances newly admitted into the class of Homosopathic remedies in this edition we note Kreosote, Muriate of Ammonia, Rockrose, &c.

We doubt not that all students or practitioners of Medicine will find matter of interest and profit in with alacrity. Messrs. Tracy & Cartwright's con this work, even those who dissent most decidedly from the system on which it is based. Science is our day is not content with treading the menoton ous round of by-gone centuries, but examines all novel propositions, tests all assertions of discovered fact or pretensions of improved method, and baving separated the gold from the dross, pro claims and cleaves to what is good, regardless of the dicta of those who, having never examined the premises, are not competent to form reliable conclusions. As with Science generally, so with Medicine. Our acquaintance with Homosepathia, as indeed with all Medical theories, is too slight to warrant us in pronouncing opinions, but we are happy to do aught in our power tending to promote inquiry, and thereby increase the sum of useful knowledge and accelerate the progress of mankind through the mazes of enshrouding Error to the clear sunlight of universal Truth.

It is supposed that on the whole line at least $150,000 will be saved by this change. The Boston Advertiser says, however, that the experiment on the Stockton and Darlington Railroad has clearly proved that east iron is very unsuitable for rails, on account of its liability to break, and that in the end it will prove more expensive than wrought iron.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE .- The Quebec Mer cury of the 13th inst. says that the dwelling of a farmer at St. Pierre, during the absence of himself and wife, took fire, and two children, one of them an infant in the cradle, and the other aged about five years, perished in the flames. It is supposed that the eldest child set fire to some straw in the house, which caused the catastrophe.

TENNESSEE FINANCES .- The School Fund of Tennessee, invested in various Bank stocks, is nov $1,053,631 31. The amount expended the pas year for the support of schools and academies is $215,816 82. The other expenses of the State government for the year ending October 1st, 1841, amount to $254,931 93, and $189,590 47 remain in the Treasury.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT .- We learn from the Baltimore Patriot, that a person named McClintock, was killed on Tuesday night by the train of care passing over him near Chester, Pa. He was not discovered until the next morning.

ALIEN SOLDIERS .- Judge Baker, of the Ner folk (Va.) Superior Court, in a case recently tried before him, decided that the enlistment of an alien in the army of the United States is not legal. An appeal to a higher Court is to be taken.

PREFARATIONS FOR FEASTING .- The Providence Journal says that 55,000 pounds of turkeys passes over the Stonington Railroad on last Friday and Monday for the Boston market. What a thanksgiving the Down-Easters will have to-day!

KING's POSTS .- A large body of influential mechants and others of Quebec, have published a pe tition, addressed to the late Governor General, in the month of September last, strongly deprecating any renewal to the Hudson's Bay Company of the lease of the extensive property known as the King's Post Domaine, upon the St. Lawrence, which exres on the 1st October, 1842.

The petition describes the country as containing forests of the best sorts of white and repine timber, which descriptions of wood are yearly becoming more scarce—so much so, that at n distant day, it will be difficult to obtain the neces sary supplies, except at a distance far temoved from the banks of the St. Lawrence and the Ot

A BRIEF HISTOY OF CHINA .- China is an empire of Asia, the most populous and ancient in the world, being 1,390 miles long and 1,030 wide. Pepulation from 300,000,000 to 360,000,000. The capital is Pekin, with 1,105,000 inhabitants next Nankin 100,000 000, and Canton 1,000,000 China produces tea, 50,000,000 lbs. of which are an nually exported from Canton, the only place which foreigners are allowed to visit. Silk, cotton, rice, gold, silver, and all the necessaries of hie, are found in China. The arts and manufactures many branches are in high perfection, but stationary, as improvements are now prehibited. The Government is a sespectic monarchy. Revenue, $200,000,000; army, 800,000 men. The religion is similar to Buddhism, the chief god being Foh. The Chinese inculcate the morality of Confucius, their great philosopher, who was born 550 B. C. The great wall and canal of China are among the mightiest works ever achieved by man. The for-eign commerce of China amounts to $35,000,000 or $40,000,000 annually, the whole of which i transacted with appointed agents, called 'Hong merchants.' Foreigners are allowed to live at certain stations, or 'factories' below Canton. The chief trade is with England. The first American sain reached China in 1784; now the annual average of United States ships visiting Canton is 32. The revenue derived from foreign commerce by the Emperor varies from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000. According to Mr. Dunn, the opium smuggled inte China, to the injury of the people, amounted to $20,000,000 annually for several years past, much of which was paid in specie, which found its way to London. The Chinese language has nearly 40.000 characters or letters. The Chinese are eminent for agriculture, and once every year the Emperor pleughs a piece of land himself in pre-sence of his people. The following lines were sent to cousin Sam in answer to his kind invitation.

Life in New-York.

My Dear Cousin Sam. I know you 've great treasure But compared to this country, it's light as a cork, For you know not the treasure, the joy or the pleature, That here we enjoy, in the State of New-Yerk.

This city is built on a beautiful island,

The Rivers come round it, in shape like a forb Take a trip is the steamboat as far as the Highlands. | York And you'll say there is no place in the world like New-To God be the honor, here under Christ's banner

And here we agree in sweet unity We are happy and free in this State of New-York. We have wheat here and rye, and sweet Indian corn; We've beef here, and butter, and the best of good pork

And you never enjoyed pleasure since you were born More than here you might have in this State of N. York. But with grief and vexauou, I turn to your nation ; For there is wee and taxation from Dublin to Cork While like brother and brother we love one arother, And Tyranny scora in the State of New-York.

Morphine, Codein and Narcein in combination with the native Meconic Acid, see all retained in their original purity, and hence the superiority of this preparation. It is much preferable to every other form of opinte, such as Lawdanum. Paragoric, Morphine, Denarcotized Laudanum, &c., &c., as has been fully proved and duly acknowledged by the most eminent surgeons, physicians and chemists. Its use is not followed by any of the disagreeable effects which invariably attend the ordinary preparations of Opins, such as constipation, headache, fremors, nausea and vomiting, but it may be taken in sufficient doses to allay all saffering, with perfect asfety and entire success. For further particulars, of its trials in hospitals, &c., see directions with the medicine.
